

NOEL MCCORMICK

PRESIDENT - McCormick Stevenson Corporation

Noel founded McCormick Stevenson Corporation in 1999 to help clients in the aerospace and defense industry deliver rugged and reliable products. Since that time the company has successfully met the harsh challenges posed by tactical military operations on land, at sea and in the air and has received the following recognitions:

- General Dynamics Ordnance and Tactical Systems 2017 Supplier Excellence Award
- American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME), Industry Recognition Award.
- Charter Member of the Florida Defense Contractors Association (FDCA), where Noel currently serves on the Board of Directors.

Noel supports the engineering community by serving on:

- The Mechanical Engineering Advisory Committee for the University of South Florida
- Industry Advisory Board of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME)
- Pinellas (County) Education Foundation's Career Education Board to enhance Tampa Bay's K-12 vocational training programs.

A 1986 Graduate of the University of South Florida, Noel was recognized as the 2007 Engineer of the Year by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Florida West Coast Section.
